or a tournament. Futures can refer to both team and player markets, such as which team will win the Super Bowl. Futures contracts are a type of derivative security that gives the holder the right to buy or sell the underlying asset at a predetermined price at a future date. Futures contracts are traded on a futures exchange. The most common futures contracts are for commodities such as oil, gold, and wheat. Futures contracts are also used for hedging risk. For example, a farmer might use futures contracts to hedge the risk of a drop in the price of wheat. Futures contracts are also used for speculation. For example, a trader might use futures contracts to profit from a change in the price of a commodity. Video Streaming Technology: Online live casinos use high-definition cameras to stream live video feeds of the dealers and the casino environment to players' computers or mobile devices in real time. This technology enables players to see the game as it unfolds and interact with the dealer and other players.

The main difference between online and live casinos is the method of defining a winner. This aspect influences some players' choices on which establishment to access. While online casinos utilise RNG (random number generator), live casinos have real dealers that usually imitate the atmosphere of a ground facility.
