Casino Hold'em is a casino gambling game. This banking game, introduced by Stephen Au-Yeung in 2000 (First Texas Hold'em Poker 6 play against the casino and not other players) and now played in live casinos worldwide. It was licensed for use 6 in the United Kingdom in 2007. In addition online casinos offer the game, which is based on the traditional multi-player 6 Texas Hold'em Poker.

Dealing the turn in Texas hold 'em

Casino Hold'em 6 is a house game designed to be dealt by a croupier for casino patrons to play in the main casino. 6 Players play the house and not other players in this variant. Subject to the dealer qualifying, it is a straight 6 contest between the dealer's hand and the player's, player may also get paid an AnteWin Bonus on his Ante bet. 6 Player can also place an AA Bonus side bet which is based on the poker value of his two personal 6 cards and the first three flop cards.

History [ edit ]

Stephen Au-Yeung devised the game in the late 1990s as a 6 tool to assist in training his partner of the time to play Texas Hold 'Em poker. After this the training 6 tool was developed into a House game and launched in 2000.[1] It first appeared as a live casino game in 6 Egypt, Russia and South Africa. It was shown in 2001 at the World Gaming Congress Expo, Las-Vegas, US and in 6 2002 at the International Casino Exhibition held at Earls Court Exhibition Centre, London, UK.

Rules [ edit ]

The game is played 6 with a standard 52 card deck.

Each player makes an Ante bet and may make an optional AA bonus side bet.

The 6 player and dealer are both dealt two cards (face down).

Three cards are then dealt to the board and will eventually 6 contain five cards.

After checking his/her cards, the player has to decide (a) to fold with no further play losing the 6 Ante bet or (b) to make a Call bet of double the Ante bet.

If one or more players makes a 6 Call bet the dealer will deal two more cards to the board, for a total of five.

Players and dealer make 6 their best five card poker hand from their own two personal cards and five board cards.

Each player's hand are compared 6 with the dealer's.

The dealer must have a pair of 4s or better to qualify.

If the dealer does not qualify, the 6 Ante bet pays according to the AnteWin pay table and the Call bet is a push (stand off).

If the dealer 6 qualifies, and the player's hand is better than the dealer's, the Ante bet pays according to the Ante-Win pay table 6 and the Call bet pays 1 to 1.

If the dealer qualifies, and the dealer's hand is equal to the player's, 6 all bets are push (it doesn't win or lose).

If the dealer qualifies, and the dealer's hand is better than the 6 player's, the player loses all bets.

Strategy [ edit ]

There is no easy way to quantify optimal strategy for this game 6 since the optimal decision for each hand is based on the combination of all 7 cards (two personal cards and 6 five board cards) dealt. As such while computer programs can easily deal with the calculations required to make the correct 6 play in any particular hand, it is difficult to make a set of general rules which can be memorized such 6 as exists for Blackjack. The optimal strategy player will raise 82% of the time. So only in the worst 18% 6 of hands should the player fold. These are broadly when the player has two singletons in the hole that are 6 low compared to the flop, with little or no chance for a straight or flush.[2]

AnteWin pay table [ edit ]

In 6 Casino Hold'em the player not only wins a standard 1 to 1 sum if they have the stronger hand, but 6 for rare hands a higher sum. This pay table typically pays a royal flush 100 to 1, straight flush 20 6 to 1, four of a kind 10 to 1, full house 3 to 1, flush 2 to 1, and straight 6 or less the standard 1 to 1.

House edge [ edit ]

The house edge of Casino Hold'em excluding the side bet 6 (that is, the percentage of each bet the casino will on average win, assuming perfect play on the part of 6 the player) varies depending on the specific rules in the casino but is the most common pay tables result in 6 a house edge varying from just below 2% to around 2.5%. Using the ante pay table above, the house edge 6 is 2.16%.

Side bets [ edit ]

A side bet known as the AA Bonus is based on the poker value of 6 the player's two cards and the first three flop cards.

A pair of aces to a straight pays 7 to 1, 6 flush 20 to 1, full house 30 to 1, four of a kind 40 to 1, straight flush 50 to 6 1 and royal flush 100 to 1. A variations to this pay table, A pair of aces to a straight 6 pays 7 to 1, flush or higher 25 to 1.
