Are free bets really free?

Yes, free bets mean exactly that: free! However, they are not exactly a gift from sports betting houses. You need to register on bet365 and take advantage of specific promotions and offers provided by the chosen betting house.

In simple terms, free bets act as a credit for you to make additional bet(s) without risking your own money.

How does a free bet from bet365 work?

A free bet works exactly like a normal bet, except for the fact that you do not need to risk your own money.

For example, if you have a free bet of R$50 and it is active on bet365, you will be able to find the desired sports event, analyze the available options and place the bet according to your bet365 intuition.

If a free bet of R$50 is for a football game with odds of 2.5, and the chosen team wins the game, you will receive the payment corresponding to the total value. However, it is important to note that the value of the free bet (R$50) will not be included in this payment.

Friend of my friend, 16 years old, buys beer in a pub without being identified

My friend is angry because his 16-year-old son bought a pint of beer in a pub at the end of the week without being asked for identification. She thought it was scandalous, while I thought it was just, as he seems to be 25 years old. In fact, if I had to tell him, I would say he looks like a 25-year-old competent young man, with a plan for life, a job and perhaps even a pension. If he were working in a bar, I wouldn't ask for his identification, but I would probably give him a free pint, just for being so efficient in life.

However, it was quite unusual, as everyone is identified. My sister, 53 years old, was asked for her age when buying small non-alcoholic drinks at Lidl. She has always been seen as a younger woman than her actual age, thanks to her bright complexion and small head, but this was ridiculous. The porters become detectives, trying to detect false identifications, so when another friend's daughter bought a false driving license on the dark web, she was asked how she usually estar en una autopista. Podría haber dicho "Aprendí en un automático" y habría estado bien, pero no lo había pensado y dijo "No sé - no puedo conducir", y ella y todas sus amigas fueron expulsadas de la fila, confiscándoles las licencias de conducir falsas. Supongo que algunas personas lo llamarían justo, pero para mí se siente como un abuso de autoridad.

Tiene sentido porque las reglas son las reglas y los bares mantienen o pierden sus licencias basándose en hacer cumplir la frontera mágica de los 18 años. Pero no tiene sentido si tu objetivo a largo plazo es evitar que los adolescentes experimenten con el alcohol. Simplemente conseguirán vodka de otra manera - quizás robándoselo a los adultos, que siempre tienen vodka pero nunca lo beben - y se emborracharán en un refugio de autobuses.

En el mejor de los casos, el negocio de la identificación evita que los jóvenes beban en mal tiempo, a menos que haya una casa a la que puedan ir porque los padres de alguien están fuera. No creo que realmente se trate de proteger a alguien, sino más bien de un hábito en el que hemos caído porque hemos visto demasiada televisión estadounidense. Los adultos han tenido demasiada exposición a las pantallas, en otras palabras, y los adolescentes de 16 años que solo están tratando de manejar una transición elegante a la edad adulta están pagando el precio.
